Changes

WE MADE THE BEST OF IT . . .

Everyone wanted this past year to be "awesome." But the changes made it a real challenge — to take what we had and make it better.

The lots were finally paved. But assigned parking spaces? 30 minute lunches? 20 minute homerooms? "This isn't fair!" we protested. But it did us no good. Talk about "hard habits to break," the new law that forbade anyone to chew or puff stormed tobacco addicts. There was "fitzation" about the duration of school schedules being rocked back and forth.

Though all of these changes pulled on us heavily, we always managed to survive. We were challenged by changes; but we made the best of it, and it made us the best!

Isn't that lost look typical of freshmen on the first day of school?

What a happy family. But you would be wise to find a babysitter immediately.

Shout! Shout! Let it all out!

. . . AND IT MADE US THE BEST!

EVEN BETTER!

Js upset about all the changes? No way! We've got our warm fuzzies to keep us happy.

Are you checking out of school again?

Don't smile and flash your eyes at us, we know you're skipping class. Garfield gave you away.

A TOTALLY NEW WAY

Adjusting to changes can really be tough. And to adjust to the changes, we had to first — accept. And if we couldn't accept then we couldn't get away with anything. After all, if they changed our school, we had to make some changes in ourselves — to adjust. Over the summer, the parking lots were paved. We could certainly accept that change. But then we were assigned parking spaces and not too many of us liked that. Several times, our bell schedules were changed. But it was finally decided that we would come to school at 8:15, sit in homeroom 20 minutes, go to classes for 55 minutes, get to our next class in 3 minutes, and leave school at 3:10. In addition to homeroom, there was a "moment of silence." For one minute, the entire campus was required not to speak or make any other disturbing noise. The purpose was to bring back personal prayer, yet those who didn't wish to pray could do homework or simply put their mind in gear to begin their school day. During the first semester, smokers, chewers, or dippers had to get their parents to meet with Mr. Dixon in order to have permission to continue their habits. But after January 1, no one was allowed to smoke, with or without their parents' approvals. In early October, Mr. Dixon gave the Junior class permission to hold the 85-86 Senior prom at the country club of their choice. It made the first prom ever to be held at a country club for us. So many rules were added this past year. So many old rules were only beginning to be enforced so strongly. Yet whatever changes challenged our year, the majority of us learned ways to accept them, and we went on to make one more change. The change that made us the best!

Are they upset about being back at school after their summer fun? They don't look it.

Have ya got it on there yet, Mrs. Stockard?

O.K. everyone, you can smile now, the hard work is over!

Though graduation may mean leaving some of your friends, there are those that you will never forget.

While everyone else is in a serious mood, Monique May shows that being a senior is all fun and games!

Vickie Potter kindly gives out programs for graduation night while Christina Pence plots how to trip people down the aisle!

GRADUATE JOYS AND TEARS

Nothing can compare to the night that the class of 1985 graduated. Nervousness, happiness, along with sadness, filled the air when the Seniors marched down the aisle for the last time. Everything had to go right because this would be the last time that they would ever march at Graham High School. Did everything proceed in a mannerly fashion? Yes, and for this the Senior class should be complimented. Tremendous joy was expressed when each Senior was called to receive their diploma from Mr. Dixon. Yes, the class of 1985 had graduated, and this event will always be remembered in the hearts of many. However, there are a group of ten people who without their help the events would not have gone so smoothly. These people were the Junior Marshals, or the top ten Juniors. The Junior Marshals helped with the tickets, programs and the graduation practices. They really helped make the graduation a joyous occasion and therefore should also be complimented. This year the class of 1986 came to the fore, and the Junior Marshals of 1985 became the top ten Seniors of 1986. But then again things may change, let's hope not for them!

GOING IN STYLE!!!

As Mr. D. and Chris McHone look on, last year's homecoming queen, Andrea Hanford, crowns the new queen, Jan Nall.

Dressed up . . . laid back . . . pumped up . . . chilled out . . . different. Yeah, different. If there was one thing that this year's homecoming had, it was plenty of changes. The new theme, "Going In Style," brought many dapper-looking Devils to the stomping ground that night. Elegantly clad fans crowded the banner-strewn stadium, some to see old friends return, others to witness the Red-and-Black attack first-hand as Graham scorched Eastern Alamance. What they saw, however, were new traditions being made as the old ones were dusted off. Jimmy Self was crowned homecoming king and the sophomore class won the banner competition. The half-time festivities provided a treat for everyone watching as the class and club representatives gathered on the field for the climax of the evening. The classy Red Devil onlookers grew quieter as the three members of the queen's court took their places at the front of the group. It grew almost silent and as a drumroll zapped through the electrically charged air, Jan Nall was announced as our new Homecoming Queen. Another change at Graham High School. Changes became a way of life.

LET THE FUN BEGIN

Let the fun begin! No matter what it is, at Graham High School the students are always ready for something new and exciting. As Graham students we like to have good, clean fun, but from time to time we are mischievous in our activities.

Graham students are always full of devil spirit. Take for example the Free Fare concert, there was a lot of enjoyment in that assembly. Yet there was a very important message from those hard rockers.

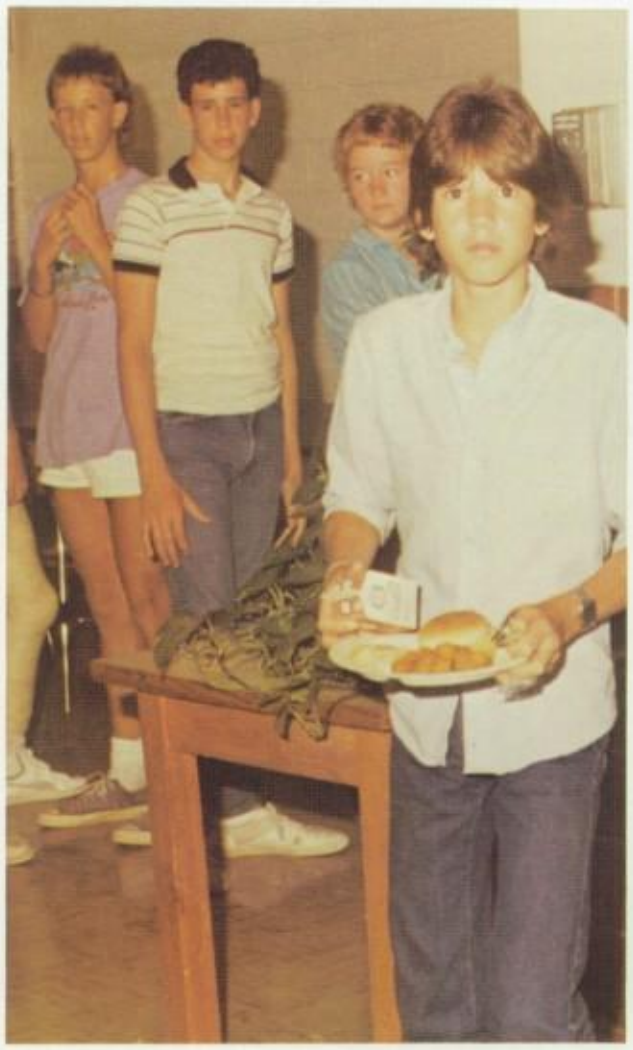
At Graham having a good time is as much a part of school as going to class each day; without it nothing balances out. The pep rallies were also an important part of Graham's excitement. Not only did we get out of class, we also got to scream and yell. The junior class seems to have more spirit than any other class this year, but the devil spirit was in everyone. The seniors were cheering mainly, because it was their last year. The underclassmen just wanted to prove themselves. During the pep rallies we played games between each of the different classes trying to let each class show their spirit, and the spirit they have for Graham High.

Graham High students definitely had fun in '86. The devil spirit will probably always be high no matter who the people are or what the changes are for that year. Yet this year was full of that devil spirit and pride.

So, let the fun begin. Do not hold tight anymore, 'cause you can create excitement no matter where you are — even if you happen to be at school. You can see that in the spirit and pride of a devil.

Joel Terrell, an excited new senior, awaits his first march into assembly. Joanna Rosser does not look as thrilled.

Kit Joye watches as Neil Dunn and Joy Nall were the only successful team in the lemon dance at the Homecoming pep rally.



Greg seems to be caught off guard as he hurried to his table to enjoy his nutritious meal. The rest of the starving line wonders when it will be their turn to get their food.

Up in smoke? In January all of this changed since, at the beginning of the second semester, no one was allowed to smoke.

Our "honored" football team enjoys their lunch as they get to sit at a special table, exclusively for them.

Mike seems unhappy that his picture is being made, but Tony is happy about it.

Where can you find people on warm, sunny days? Senior Square is the place, as friends gather after lunch.

IS THERE ANYTHING HAPPENING AT LUNCH FOR A CHANGE?

Changes were evident all over the school, including the cafeteria. The freshmen, who were hoping for a change from the middle school's food, were disappointed. The upperclassmen expected nothing different, because if nothing has changed in three years, who hopes?

A very big change in lunch was the time. Lunch time was cut ten to fifteen minutes. That meant that you had to fight the crowds, eat your lunch, and catch up on the gossip in a shorter amount of time. There were a lot of things people wanted to do during lunch but there wasn't any time to do it.

After gobbling down lunch, (if there was any time left), students were found heading for various places. Some hurried out to Senior Square to visit with their friends. Senior Square seems to be the "main" meeting place for almost all students. Others hurried out to the smoking area so they could take advantage of their limited privilege, since, as of January, they couldn't smoke. A few others chose to spend their time in the library improving their grades.

Wherever students were found, it was assured that they were trying to make the best use of the change in schedule. Students may not have liked the change, but since there was nothing they could do, they had to adapt and realize . . . things are changing.

Jason seems to be the only person in the cafeteria happy to see his food.

Hungry students wait in the long lines hoping for something good to eat.

CAUGHT IN THE ACT

Mrs. Stockard gives Tony McRainey a big, congratulations hug after his "marriage" to Melissa Adams. The wedding was done as a class project in Family Life.

Caught In The Act

The 1985-86 school year brought a lot of new things to deal with. There were new teachers, new schedules, and a whole lot of strict enforcement on old rules. On the positive side, we Graham High School students now have two paved lots in which to park our cars, and a bright new marquee to welcome us to our favorite place to be at eight o'clock in the morning. All these unfamiliar things, good or bad, took some getting used to, but with our usual, good ole' Red and Black adaptability, we plunged in, horns first, and tackled the situation devilishly. However, for all those backwoods farm boys who, for some strange reason, may not know, "devilishly" does not mean the same thing as "gracefully." Adjusting to the new lifestyle was a slick path to travel, and since Devil-Country rarely freezes over, we took a few tumbles and got stuck in some awkward situations. Most of the time, we wiggled out without too many scratches, but sometimes we got caught in the act and turned a little red. (How can you tell when a Red Devil turns red?) Our photographers scoured the campus for some candid shots and found that embarrassing moments seem to pop up around every corner. This definitely makes for a fun-filled school and though it may seem as though we Devils aren't very graceful, we have learned that the hilarious jokes, the golden moments and all the little things are what make the fondest memories. And years from now, as we look back on this radical year of change, we will probably be proud of ourselves and of our school for taking the risk to be different.

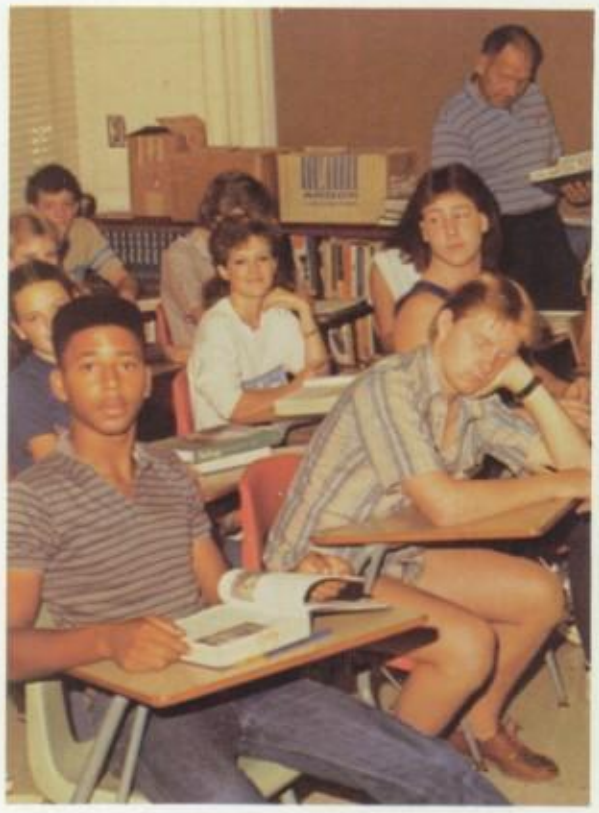
Stephan Charlton appears to be greatly enthused with school this year.



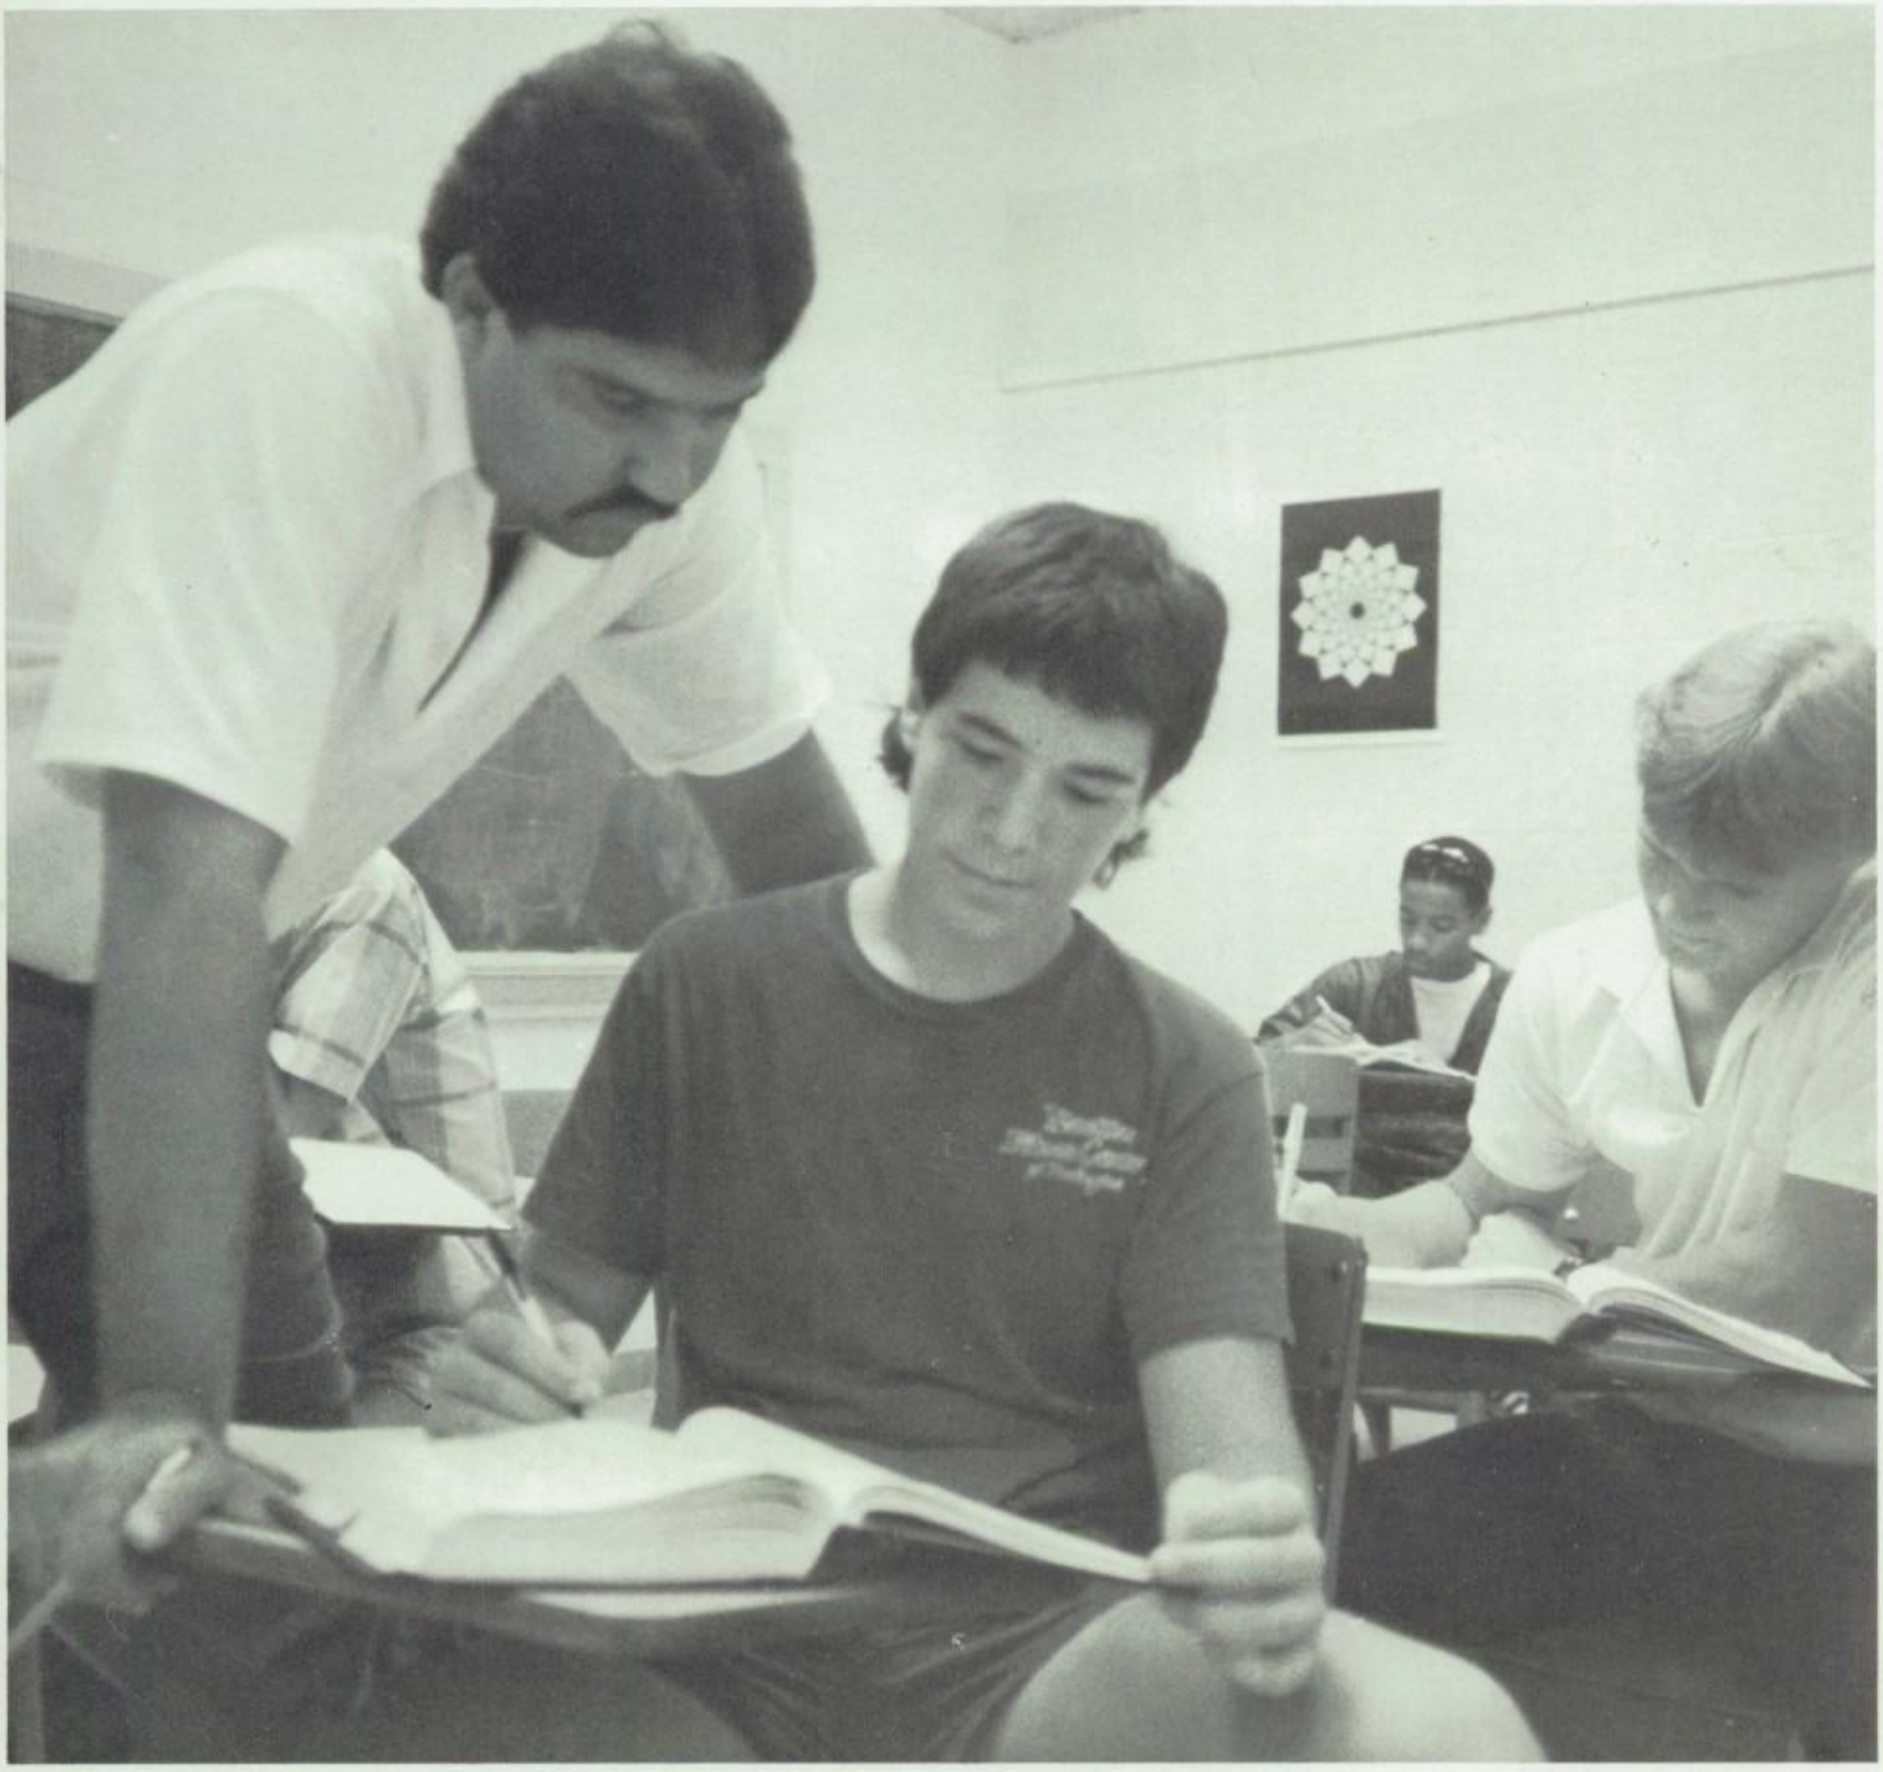
One of Graham's own artists, Darian Stokes, is putting up a bulletin board for Mrs. Collins.

Coach Melvin must have given Sonya an A, but Jimmy's smirk does not say much for how he did.

A CHANGE OF PACE

To many of the students, the hardest change they had to adjust to this year was the new bell schedule. With only three minutes between classes and shorter lunch periods there was no longer any time left to socialize. The fifty-five minute classes seemed eternal, though they were only five minutes longer than last year.

School started in the morning with the "moment of silence." After that one minute breather it was rush, rush, rush, the rest of the day until 3:10. But at least we were not the only school hit by the "crackdown." All of the schools across the state were facing these same problems. A change of pace was inevitable. We just had to prove we could keep up.



Coach William gives Steve Rimmer a few tips.

CLASS-Y PROJECTS BY CLASS-Y PEOPLE

Dawn Surles and Sherry Tate escort our local super-hero, Capt. Chaos to B-7 to give a lecture. Capt. Chaos is one of Sherry Law's personal creations.

This year, there was a new twist on class projects. Oh — there were still the same bo-ring activities like term papers and book reports but there was a subtle change. The new improvement was that the people doing them had a sense of humor. They began to laugh class projects off and then began to laugh at the results. From the freshman history projects to the seniors (too) many English projects, the year was literally full of "Fun" things to do. Creativity reigned dominant in the idea section and the results were . . . hiliarious — to say the least. Devils really know how to have fun, even on class projects. Whether or not they passed is a different story.

PARADES THAT CHANGE

You can see them peeping out their store windows everywhere! They're fans of the Graham Christmas parade and they're all excited to see the new faces.

The stars! They're waving to the crowds with painted faces. They're all having fun whether sitting on a pony or riding on a float. The queens, they're all new ones, and best of all — wearing the latest fashions!! But what's a parade without some of those Graham High School kids? Who can say they've been to a fantastic parade if Graham didn't have something to do with it? Those parades that change!

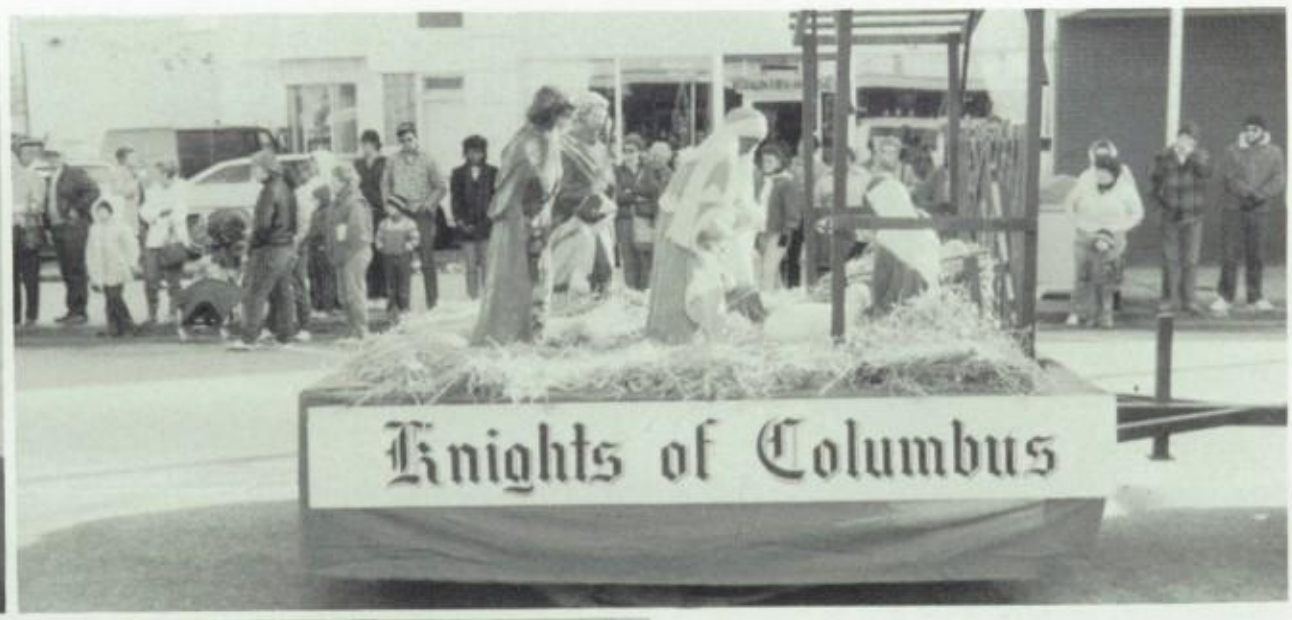
Was that seat really a whole buck and a half, Jan Nall?

Angie Hester in just one of her best outfits.

There can be no celebration without clowns!

Tracy Boggs, Miss GHS, is supposed to be waving.

Rhonda Horner looks proud to be a flag girl.



Mr. MacDonald, did we see you throw a Big Mac at that little boy?

Knights of Columbus away in a manger.

"Who's driving that thing?" squeeks a voice from the crowd.

What's a parade without Graham's varsity cheerleaders?

ENTERCHANGEMENT

This year, we had more than a few great entertainers. The majority of them enjoyed being the center of attention. But most of all, their concern was to make GHS a better place for us to be; to change it with their own, unique ideas. We didn't just need a place to learn about books, or dribble a basketball, or sew pillows, or type manuscripts. We needed a place where we could have chances and make them our own so that our ideas might encourage other minds to be constructive in changing this school. And those minds took the chance to change lectures into entertainment.

That is what enterchangement was all about!

What's better than one Mark? Why two Marks, of course!

Michelle Riggs, a junior, sang "The Word".

Pam Foriest, a junior, played the "Winter Song" on the piano.

Susie Howell, a sophomore, sang "The Way We Were".

Lori Miles, a junior, sang and played on the flute "My Tribute".

Wendy Merrill, a senior, gave it all she had singing "Hello Dolly".

Amy Allgeyer, a senior, played the flute "Serenade for a Picket Fence".

A DREAM COMES TRUE

Kathy Hall, her eyes misty with tears, dreams of becoming Miss GHS.

On November 23, the annual Miss GHS Pageant was held in the auditorium, capping off three nerve-racking rehearsals. The setting was a dream, in which a young girl (Kathy Hall) danced . . . twirling her little frame around and around in wide graceful arcs. Her eyes misty with tears, fell upon a bright and glittering crown, which she placed upon her head. All her life she had dreamed of this moment.

The dream came true for Tracy Boggs, a junior, who was crowned Miss GHS of 1985-86. This came as a surprise to everyone as she had just received the Miss Congeniality Award. Georgia Rogers, a sophomore, was named first runner-up.

The pageant's organizer and National Honor Society President, Melissa Adams gave a warm welcome to all. Master of Ceremonies Daniel Kleeburg introduced the contestants: Amy Allgeyer, Angela Barker, Tracy Boggs, Pam Foriest, Susie Howell, Sherry Law, Wendy Merrill, Lori Miles, Michele Riggs, Georgia Rogers, and Angela Stroud. Escorts for the contestants were David Bell, Ken Costner, Keith Enoch, Malcolm Enoch, Steve Reynolds, and Chris Roach.

Judges Sandra Dixon, Lia Councilman, and Sam Fowler evaluated contestants in these areas of competition: sportswear, evening gown, and talent.

Special entertainment was provided by the GHS Small Ensemble, Miss Burlington, Lia Councilman, and "Flashback," a school based band.

Melissa Adams, in the absence of Darlene Kimber, Miss GHs 1984-85, performed the crowning ceremonies.

AFTER HOURS. . . . .

After the Friday

"Friday! Friday! Friday!" radios scream as hundreds of school kids pack their bags for the last school day of the week. When 3:10 comes, it's time the guys and chicks get ready for their night. Whether on a hot date or cruisin' with friends to look for a friend, fun is the name of the game.

Even better is the summer when Monday through Friday is party to party and beach to streets.

AS THE WORLD TURNS

Billy, a future performer in Live-Aid!

This year our world seemed to be afflicted with disaster after disaster. The newspaper business had it easy, but it was rather depressing for the rest of us.

The big headlines of the year included the increase in airplane crashes, earthquakes in Mexico, mudslides in Columbia, starvation in Ethiopia, riots caused by the apartheid problems in South Africa, and the numerous terroristic activities. Looking on the brighter side of things we re-established good relations with Russia through the Geneva talks, people everywhere pulled together to raise money for the less fortunate, and we have not been blown off the face of the earth yet. AIDS had everyone in a scare, and in January, Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday was celebrated for the first time as a national holiday.

This year was not one that will soon be forgotten. As we relive the memories of our high school years, so will we relive the events that happened in the world around us. Each year new changes and new events that take place as the world turns.

Chuck Loy, oblivious to everything around him, sits reading in the library engrossed with the current issues of the day.

SUPER"WHO"LATIVES

Who did you vote for? No, not for class officers, but for senior superlatives? Yes, the class of 1986 voted for who deserved what, and the results were outstanding. Being chosen for a superlative is a privilege that the seniors almost did not have. Some people thought that superlatives were old-fashioned and that they should be abolished. However, the seniors protested that such an action would take away one of the few privileges seniors have. Since nobody wanted to provoke the Red Devils to become REAL devils, the seniors kept their superlatives — and they won a fight for a change.

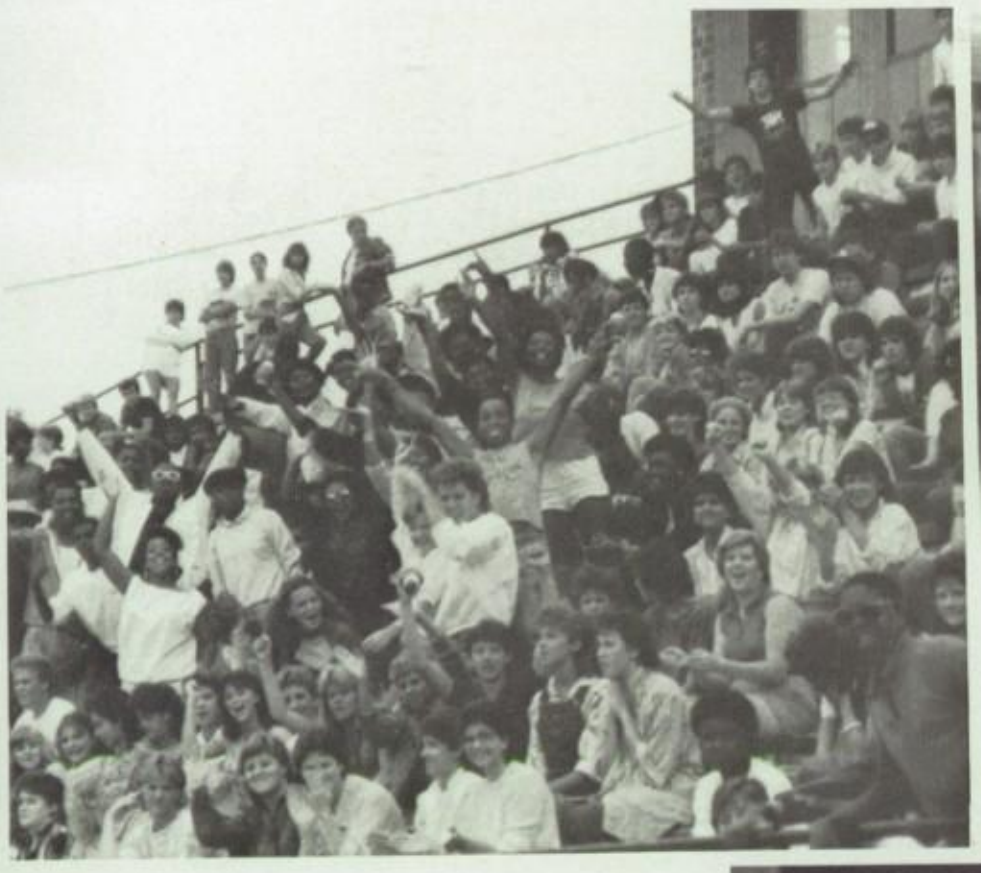
FICKLE PEOPLE HAVE PIZZAZ!



Think back. How many times were you caught skipping class? How many times were you caught dipping skoal? How many times have you said, "I'm going home! It's been a bad week." and it's only Monday? If we could just have things the way we wanted. If we could just "Rule the school," then we'd have the grades made, bowls of skoal, skip to dip, or check out when in doubt of the test next period. But changes limited our wants and soon, we had to just accept. Those of us who couldn't, had it "bad with the Board." Those of us who could were rare students. Those were the "fickle people."

Changing

No one knows what the future holds
Preparing ourselves for twelve long years,
To grow up and to be on our own,
A time for showing our fears and shedding tears.

Throughout our lives many things have changed,
We've grown from children to women and men.
Our elders have taught us to go the positive way,
To reach for the sky, and stay far from sin.

As the year is coming to an end,
We're gaining more knowledge day by day.
We're changing our attitude about our friends,
Getting ready to go our separate ways.

Some are getting prepared for college,
To pursue their interests and education.
While others are working and starting their lives,
And finding out about life's frustrations.

Whichever path you decide to choose
Try to win, but just don't lose.

CLASS OF 1987

As the third year of our high school life at G.H.S. draws to an end, we can remember the many pleasant memories which we have shared in the building of our class of 1987. It has been three years of happiness and sadness, but the three years have been ours.

Upon entering our new life in 1983 as a green, inexperienced freshman, we assembled the materials for a strong foundation with the help of our class sponsor. We got our act together for Homecoming to build a float. For most of us, it was the first one we had ever tried to build, but it was something new, a change.

In our sophomore year, we were ready to learn more, and eager for changes. We continued our good — but hard work as a class in preparation for an exciting and busy school year. Most of us received our first gift of freedom as we got our license. No more would we have to rely on Mom and Dad for a ride. Now we just had to ask for the car.

When we finally acquired the title of upperclassmen, we continued to learn and to change our class group into one of the busiest and the greatest. As a junior, time was spent in preparing for the S.A.T., doing term papers for the first time, and getting prepared to be a senior.

Changes are definitely what our class was waiting for. As the year comes to an end and a new one begins, we experienced the excitement of getting class rings, attending the Junior-Senior Prom and waiting for our very own class to graduate as the class of 1987. With pride we look over our past accomplishments and with anticipation we look forward to things ahead.

Rich Tate gives us an "I don't know about this" expression. After he viewed the science project.

This sophomore class interrupts their exciting English class to have their picture taken.

What is one word that describes a sophomore? Changes is one that comes to mind. As a sophomore, many changes take place. They take one more step up the ladder to graduation, and so they aren't looked down on as much.

One thing a sophomore experiences is getting their license. Most get them their sophomore year, but a few young ones have to wait until they're juniors. What does a license mean? It means no more relying on rides from other people.

The sophomore class is usually a busy one. With the prom coming up the next year, the sophomores want to raise as much money as possible, so they can be found carrying out various fundraisers. Everything from selling doughnuts to raffling has been done to raise money.

The class of '88 is a unique one. We expect great things to come from them.

CLASS OF '89

When starting high school as a freshman, a person goes through many changes that sometimes can be a frightening experience. After all, these people are in a new place not knowing where to go or what to do. The first few days they often get lost and the upperclassmen are usually no help. They play practical jokes by telling the lost freshmen the wrong directions — usually sending them completely over to the wrong side of the school. The upperclassmen remember what it's like to be a freshman, but they really don't care. They feel that they were mistreated as a freshman and this is their way of getting even. All of this is usually going on while the freshmen are having to get used to new ways and responsibilities.

Along with being a freshman, there are many more responsibilities than experienced previously. Having more freedom plays a big role in the changes that a freshman experiences. There are no more ridiculous rules that are enforced in middle schools. A freshman no longer had to walk in single file throughout the halls or go to lunch with one class, or have to sit in assigned seats. The freshman started getting used to big exams that required more studying. Believe me, it was a change.

After finally getting used to the changes that took place, high school became a memorable experience. Freshmen eventually learned how to play the biggest game in high school. This was the game of excuses. Students seemed to find excuses for everything, from being late to class, to not having their homework completed. The excuse, "My dog ate my paper," no longer works, and I doubt if it ever did. The excuse, "My locker is jammed," went out a long time ago. So we leave it to you freshmen, to think up some new ones. You have three more years, so get to work.

Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Covington try to become professional thieves by breaking into the Coke machine in the teachers' lounge.

Mrs. Skillman shows Curley Wall and Wendy Oliver a better way.

Class of?

Though changes seemed to fly all over the campus, there were some things that rarely changed. One was the GHS faculty.

Except for the new teachers who magically appeared in several rooms around the school, it was the same "old" staff which returned, gleefully, in early August. As usual, they quickly began plotting all sorts of terrible torture for the innocent students. Some even went so far as to collaborate on their schedules so that they could give tests on the same days.

There were those new teachers, however, who had not yet learned the ways of the wicked. Mr. Turner, Ms. Barnes, Mr. Hawkes, Mr. Williams, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Baugess, Mrs. Taylor, Mr. Barnett, Ms. Skillman and Ms. Washburn became a part of the GHS Teaching Staff and provided a faculty facelift.

In spite of all their treachery, our teachers really do help us a lot more than we would like to admit. Some even go the extra mile to plan class trips and the truly brave serve as club and class advisors. Ms. Faircloth, Miss Hunt, Ms.Cratch, and Ms. Clark showed their courageousness by taking clubs to foreign countries or over the length of the US to Hawaii.

So, even though we students may not show it, we really do appreciate our teachers. If only we could get rid of this homework . . .

While Coach Melvin waits his turn, Mr. Dixon registers for gifts at the St. Council Christian party.

Mr. Dismuke and his class pose for the camera.

Mr. Talley looks much happier than his students do during an Auto Body lecture.

Mrs. Honeycutt lectures to her class about the Civil War.

These home economics students enjoy class with Mrs. Bare as demonstrated by their happy faces.

Mrs. Taylor represented a change for all students requiring her attention this year, as evidenced by Scott Godwin's sheepish look.

With pencils in hand, Ms. Perkins' math students stay busy while she gave special attention to those who needed it.

CHANGES IN CLASSES
ADD VARIETY TO OUR DAYS

Even though many changes have occurred this year, there is one change that has not yet been mentioned, and that is in classrooms. One such change is that Graham High now has a photography class. This class provides the opportunity to become better photographers. New air conditioners and ceiling fans made being in the classroom a little more bearable in the fall and spring months. Additional training in computers helped to add variety to the business department for word processing. Other classrooms had the use of one or two computers also. Indeed, changes in classes add much variety.

Amidst all of the diligent work, Alan Seward and Lisa Cook take time out to "sort of smile" at the photographer.

Mrs. Claar's enthusiasm in science affects Grady Blalock in strange ways, and bores Todd Corbett tremendously!

Chris and James, being typical seniors, close books and open mouths fifty-four minutes before the end of class.

Mark Sykes knows enough about graphics to use the heavy metal machines. Jay Hunter knows how much Mark knows and sits far away.

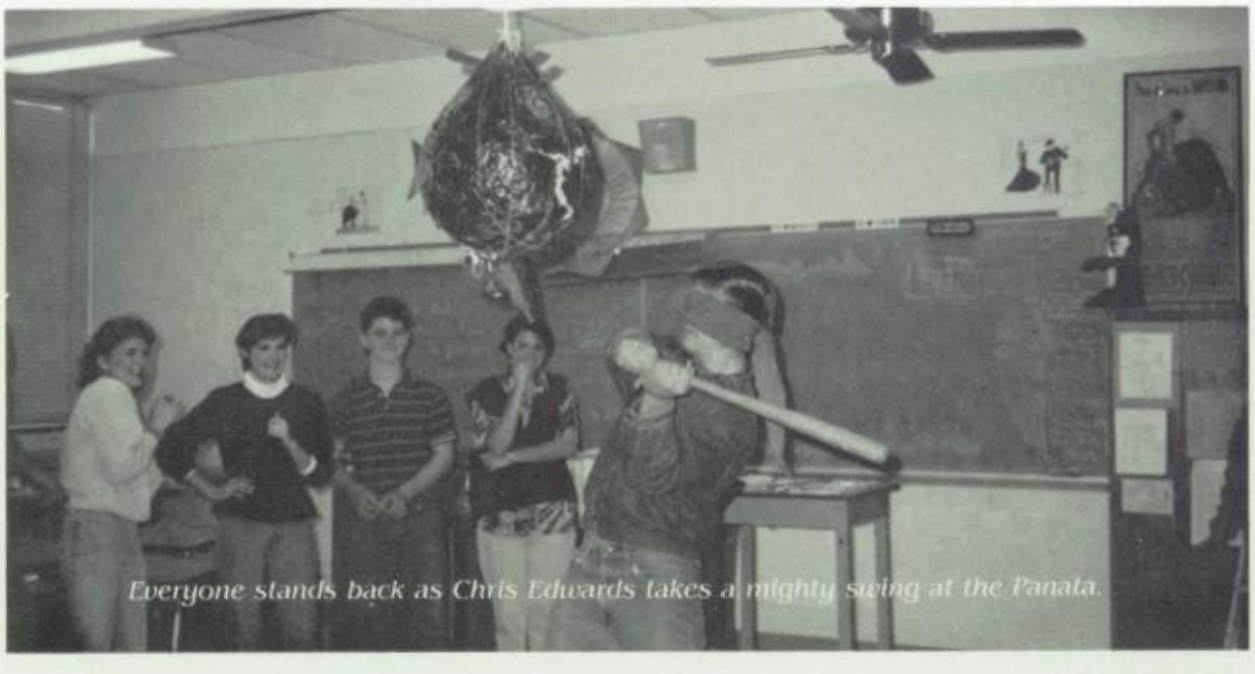
The second period Advanced Math class takes a break from wrapping functions for a class discussion of sports injuries.

Mr. Davis teaches photography the best he can, having no cameras or film.

Mrs. Claar's physical science class shoots off a model rocket during Science Appreciation Week to observe parabolic motion.

In some of the clubs at Graham, changes occurred, while in others, things stayed the same with the exception of officers. All of the clubs had at least one thing in common, they wanted changes. Maybe small things, but almost everyone wanted something different.

The clubs assembled themselves from the beginning, collecting dues and planning fundraisers. Our clubs went on throughout the year carrying out their different activities and raising funds for various projects.



Everyone stands back as Chris Edwards takes a mighty swing at the Panata.

TOGETHERNESS

Working "together" brought one year that would be well remembered.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Yearbook Staff had something in common in the 1985-86 school year; togetherness, a not so rare disease that affects many hard working students that try to get things done right. The Fellowship of Christian Athletes got off to a great start with over 40 members in attendance on the first meeting. All the members seemed to enjoy the Thursday morning breakfast meetings and the Monday night fellowship meetings. The main event that members enjoyed the most was the Weekend of Champions held in March. The excitement of meeting Christian students from other schools was exciting to everyone! Strangers became friends and good friends became better friends. After the unforgettable weekend, everyone came back knowing the true meaning of "Fellowship of Christian Athletes" and "togetherness" was a true example. The club officers were Jan Nall, President; Brian Burke, Vice-President; Joy Nall, Secretary; Sherry Law, Treasurer; Dennis Cobb, Chaplain; and Coach Ken Green was the clubs adviser.

As for the 1985-86 Yearbook Staff, "togetherness" was the key to a great year. The members worked to reach their deadlines but the time allotted was barely enough. Many days the members would work during their study halls, their lunch time, and after school to get the last minute touches done.

Ad sales and the selling of yearbooks excited the members as they worked "together" vigorously on the 1985-86 yearbook and we're proud to present this years WAG to the student body of Graham High School.

Oh NO! Not another boring sermon on deer hunting from the "happy hunter" Coach Green.

CHANGES??

NEWSPAPER STAFF

The newspaper staff worked hard to report the incidents that occurred at Graham. Their payoff came when the paper, finally finished, was out of their hands. Newspaper advisor, Faye Collins, headed this staff with Chris McHone as business manager and Steve Reynolds as Editor-in-Chief. These three were over dedicated reporters and photographers as they reported the many changes going on at GHS.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

This year's National Honor Society was a very busy one. It has been since the beginning of school. The chapter, hosted the forty-fifth annual NC National Honor Society Convention on March 14-16, but planning meetings began in September. This was a big project involving 175 delegates from all over the state for 3 days of lectures, workshops, elections, and fun.

The second biggest project that the NHS undertook was putting on the Miss GHS pageant in November. The chapter sponsors this every year, but a lot of work from all of the members was still required to make it successful.

For Christmas, the NHS took some small gifts to the psychiatric patients at Memorial Hospital.

PEOPLE WORKING . . . FOR CHANGES

People working for a change is fitting for our Student Council. Especially the word working. Our Student Council worked very hard this year to show the school that it wasn't an inactive group. Headed by Charlie Brooks, the Council undertook many projects over the school year.

The first big task was Homecoming, and that was no small feat. They organized the voting of our Homecoming king and queen. They also bought the materials for the clubs and class banners. The Council issued invitations to the big game and the dance that followed.

Student Council also made it possible for a band to come and play for the student body at an assembly. The band was Freefare and the assembly went over well enough to have the band play a show after a game.

Yes, the word working describes our Student Council well enough. They are people willing to give it their all in order for the school to be a better place.

"You must be Mr. Macho?", Freefare members asks Billy Compton. As Terri Dill agrees, Chris Jacobs and Coach Mach hold back their opinions.

FBLA AND FHA CHANGING THE FUTURE

The FBLA and the FHA are active clubs of Graham High School. This year the FBLA and the FHA had a combined meeting at Duke Power for a Christmas show. At this show the students learned how to make Christmas crafts as well as how to cook some goodies.

The FHA members attended the FHA rally in Thomasville early in the year. The workshop was held to promote FHA in schools.

During the fall of 1985 the FHA sold calendars and earned over $1100. This money was used to buy and repair equipment for the home economics classes.

The FHA was on the ball this year. It surely had something to do with the officers who were as follows: President, Sherry Law; Vice-President, Anita Graves; Secretary, Pam Owens; and Treasurer, Jan Nall.

The FBLA was also very busy during the year. They increased their membership and were involved in numerous projects.

The jewelry sale started the year off with the FBLA. They raised more than $650. This money went toward scholarships in the field of business. For Christmas, the members sponsored a needy family. They collected clothing, toys, and food the family needed in order to have a Merry Christmas. During Valentine's the student's participated in finding their true love through a computer match up. What will the FBLA think of next?

This year's officers are President, Bonnie Carter; Vice-President, Barbara Wright; Secretary Treasurer, Melanie Barber; and Parliamentarian, Laurinda Tysor.

Barbara pulls one over Anne as she looks over her shoulder and finds out who her perfect match is without paying for her computer sheet.

CHANGING THROUGH FOREIGN LANGUAGES

FRENCH CLUB

The 1985-86 school year has been a successful one for the French Club. The group has sold candy bars to help pay for the trip to France during spring break. After going to France, they plan to go to a popular French restaurant. The club officers are: Carol Smith, president; Jill Swan, vice president; Ginger Blalock, secretary.

SPANISH CLUB

The Spanish Club has sponsored many activities this year to make the students active. Some activities include: making a pinata, providing a shadowbox, celebrating Columbus Day and Foreign Language Week. The club is also planning a 9-day trip to Spain and Portugal over Easter Vacation. The club officers are: Becky Colby, president; Pam Forest, vice president; James Wilson, secretary-/treasurer.

CHART TOPPERS

"Chart toppers" was a good description of theater class, band and chorus departments as they worked hard to show their "stuff."

The Mighty Red Devil Marching Band, worked hard to present creditable halftime performances during football games. After clowning around ceased, the band students knew they had a job to do. Their hard work paid off as they were awarded the John L. Harris Most Improved and Spirited Award at Western.

Nervousness is a feeling any performer experiences. There was no exception when the theater class put on their first performance, "A Quiet Christmas." Each student performed backstage or onstage. Even those "boring" notes helped.

A lot of hard work is used to produce the beautiful music of the combined choruses. Again, Graham had its special group of gifted voices known as the Small Ensemble.

Each voice must tryout in the previous spring and as selections were posted, swarms of students were attracted to it. Some hopefuls jumped for joy, and others walked away in despair. This is what it's all about to become a "chart topper."

SADD, ECOLOGY, ART, and DECA are doing it right through the changes!

The main purpose of the Ecology Council is Campus beautification. Each year they try to promote pride in our school by keeping it clean. In the past they have sponsored a trash can painting contest, clean-up days, flowers, and planted trees. They also provide their members with the opportunity to go on many field trips, such as to the beach, zoo, planetarium, and wild food weekends.

On October 26, 1985, the SADD went to the State Fair in Raleigh. It was a big change for the club, because they never went anywhere for fun, mostly they just went places that dealt with SADD. SADD also put on an assembly for the school. Steve Streeter, an outstanding football player at UNC, came to G.H.S. and talked to the student body about drinking and driving. Every one seemed to take his message seriously. This year the SADD club is the biggest yet in student number.

DECA has different contests through the year, both on a local and state levels. The contests they have had are in apparel and accessories, restaurant management, retail sales and fashion merchandising.

They participated in homecoming activities and had a banquet at the end of the school year for their employees.

The Art Club went to Twin Lake Rest Home to visit Tim Oliver, who graduated in 1984, to wish him a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. The club helped a needy woman by bringing her clothes, food and even paid some of her gas bills.

In February, the club had a Valentine party for all the members. They also participated in Homecoming festivities by making a banner.

ALL THAT PLUS A SMILE

Our cheerleaders seem to think that the other squad doesn't have enough.

Cheering has definitely taught Sarah how to give a winning smile.

This year's cheerleading squad started the year out by having long summer practices and attending a gymnastics camp instead of a cheerleading camp. They also did a lot of fund raisers which consisted of a dog wash, car wash, and a doughnut sale which brought in a lot of needed money. The biggest change the cheerleaders had to face was the outlawing of stunts and the new advisor, Mrs. Baugess.

From the beginning of tryouts to the end of baseball season, life for the varsity cheerleaders was "Hot to Go".

THE SEASON OF UPS AND . . .

The Graham Red Devils finished the 1985 season with an overall record of 4 wins and 6 losses. In the Mid-State AAA Conference, Graham accomplished a 3 and 4 record, tying Western and Eastern for a fourth place finish. This improved season brought recognition to several individuals. Jimmy Self was the conference's leading passer, completing 62 passes for 919 yards and 10 TD's. Tony Pinnix finished the season as the Mid-State's third leading rusher with 981 yards rushing and 8 TD's. The defense led by DT J.B. Wolverton, LB Chris Edwards and DB Jeff Dunn demonstrated an all out gritty style of play. Although hurt by the big play all year, the defense achieved many of their goals during the season. With great senior leadership and a never-say-die attitude, this years varsity football team truly brought a touch of class to Graham.

AN UNUSUAL SEASON

The 1985 season was truly an unusual year for the always competitive Red Devil's J.V. football team. After defeating 4-A Oxford-Webb, Graham lost three in a row. This included a loss to Eastern Randolph in which a 70 yard fumble return for a TD by James Franklin seemingly tied the game but was nullified. The next week Graham was very impressive in its victory over Eastern Alamance, but suffered tough losses to Cummings and Williams the two weeks to follow. The Red Devils saw victory slip away against Cummings on the last play of the game, a 98 yard TD run by the Cavaliers. After another last minute defeat to Williams the Red Devils pulled a last second play of their own, defeating Southern Alamance on a 90 yard TD pass from Ralph Halacheff to Mark Latham. In the final two games, Graham dominated Western and B.Y. Marvin Willis, Michael Lee, Scott VanBenschoten, and Jason Hancock had outstanding games. Yes it was an unusual season for the Red Devil's J.V.'s, but a successful one, nonetheless.

However they gave their very best. The Lady Devils came in eighth place in the final Mid-State standings.

MIGHT AS WELL . . . JUMP

The Graham High Varsity Basketball Team proved that Air Jordan Tennis Shoes could really be a factor in helping them to soar through the air to slam the ball or just get the ball down the court. This year's Red Devil team got off to a slow start placing them in third place in the Mid-State Conference. Whether winning or losing, the Devils showed good leadership to prove that there is a lot of pride at Graham High School and even in tough times, the Devils will always come out on top.

SCORE, SCORE, WE WANT MORE!

The Junior Varsity Basketball team proved that hard practice and good sportsmanship always lead to a good Mid-State finish. The Devils placed second this year. Like all Junior Varsity squads before them, they made brilliant plays, and shot some pretty difficult baskets. The JV's showed their skills in hopes that some will make the varsity squad next year, or at least remain on the JV. The returning sophomores were Tom Carver, Chris Stone, and Paul Briggs, with Tom and Chris also being the high scorers of the season. The rest of the team included several freshmen and one junior.

TAKE ME OUT TO THE BALLGAME

The 1985 Varsity Baseball season started off with a marathon in which each member of the team raised as much money as they could to help pay for new uniforms. The marathon lasted around 25 innings. They divided us into two teams, each consisting of some JV and some Varsity players on each in order to prepare for the season which would prove to be very rewarding. Before the first game, the mayor was present to "cut the ribbon" to announce the completion of the new baseball field at the middle school. One major highlight in the year was when they won the Garner Invitational Tournament, against all odds, since they were the only 3-A school competing. the rest were all 4-A schools. They also came in second in the mid-state conference. They ended the year by going to the state playoffs.

SEVENTH INNING STRETCH

Whether pushing weights or pushing for a goal, the JV's were on their own personal, as well as team, road.

Later, in February, the baseball team tried to raise money by gathering sponsors and having a weight-lifting contest! They were in debt $500.00 until the contest was over.

Coached by Mike Harden, the team was led into a good and satisfying season.

STRIKE THREE – YOU'RE OUT

Beginning with a new year and a new season, there was also a new coach. His name was Mike Williams and there seemed to be nothing more important to him than winning a game. The girls had a satisfying season in the sun as they finished their last conference game against Eastern Randolph — with a smile.

Track, a sport that is enjoyed by many high school students, is very competitive. Whether it is running long distance, short distance, or just doing one of the special field events . . . it all takes a lot of hard practice.

The volleyball team won five games and lost nine. Everyone helped to make this rebuilding year a most enjoyable and pleasant experience. The three seniors showed leadership and good sportsmanship. They were: Vickie Potter, Joanna Rosser, and Malisa Campbell. The biggest change this year was having two male managers for the first year. They were Rodney Ruffin and Clarence Bradshaw.

Dear Brit,
It's been great watching you run track and be successful along with being successful at the most important thing. Life.
Best Wishes,
Coach Hawks

DEVILS CAN THROW DOWN

This year's wrestling team had a lot of rebuilding to do with only one returning wrestler. Graham hosted its third annual invitational wrestling tournament in December. They placed third out of eight schools competing for the title. The biggest changes were having a new coach, Andy Hawks, and the biggest turnout of student wrestlers in several years.

RACING AGAINST THE CLOCK

As the race begins, Curtis is in the lead.

The main change in cross country this year was the new coach, David Grinnell. Even though a small team, they were still a potentially strong team. For example, Curtis Matherly ran Wendell Staton's record of 17-21 when he ran against Eastern. Coach Grinnell is presently working on some changes in cross country that will begin next fall. Hopefully, the changes will make Graham a more competitive team.

And for loves sake, each mistake, ah, someone forgave. The main players were Steve Reynolds, Mike Bowes, David Bell, Chris Ray, Tim Parrott, and Ken Costner. Staying on top, for goodness sake, is, of course, everyone's goal. These boys not only show their academic skills at school, but on a court also. Could it be brain power? Could it be their massive love for the game? Whatever it is, these guys were outstanding and deserved every bit of credit they were given for a job well done.

Craig Joyce seems to close his eyes and pray that he hits the ball.

Ken Costner is waiting for something to do.

Monica Joyner and Cara Compton take a break from managing the team to smile for the camera.

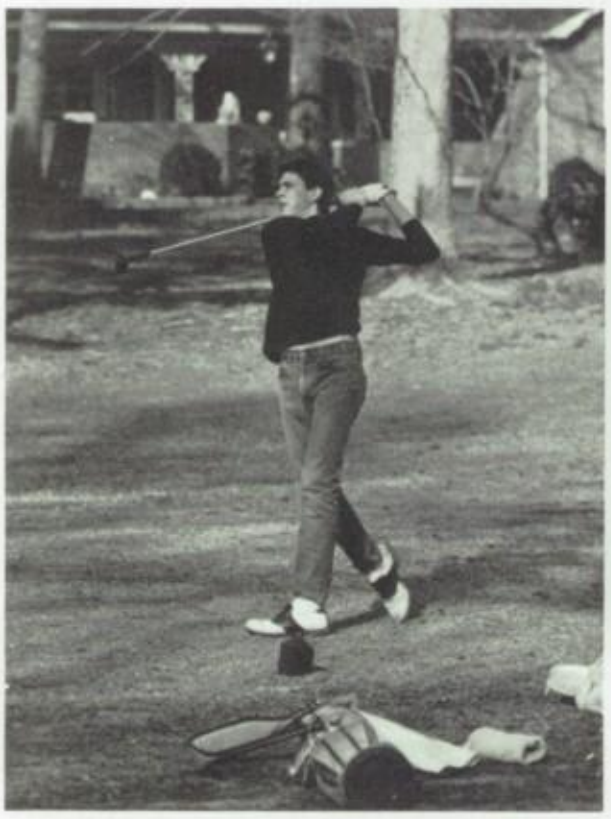
Even the tennis team has exercises.

Chris is just playing around while thinking about the end of tennis practice.

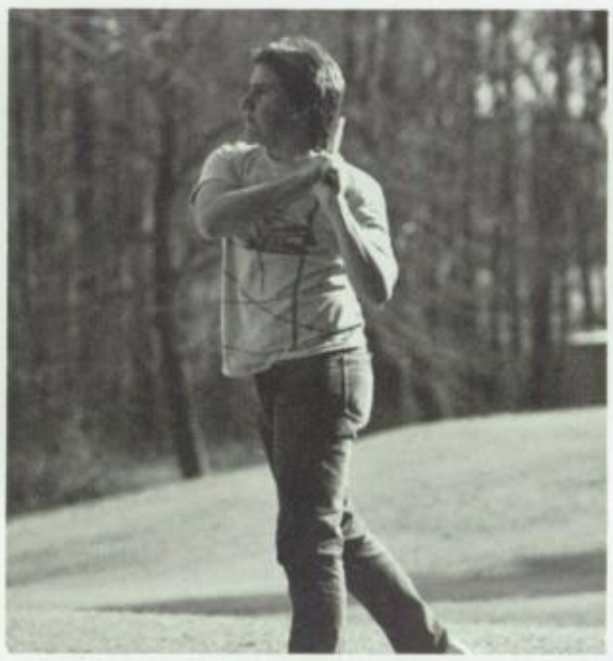
IN THE SWING OF THINGS

With the golf season arriving, Coach Maynard hopes that this year's team will be more competitive. With returning sophomore, Steve Isley, who was named to the All-Conference Team last year, the team has a good outlook. The main change this year is that the golf team will be purchasing sweaters to wear when the competition begins.

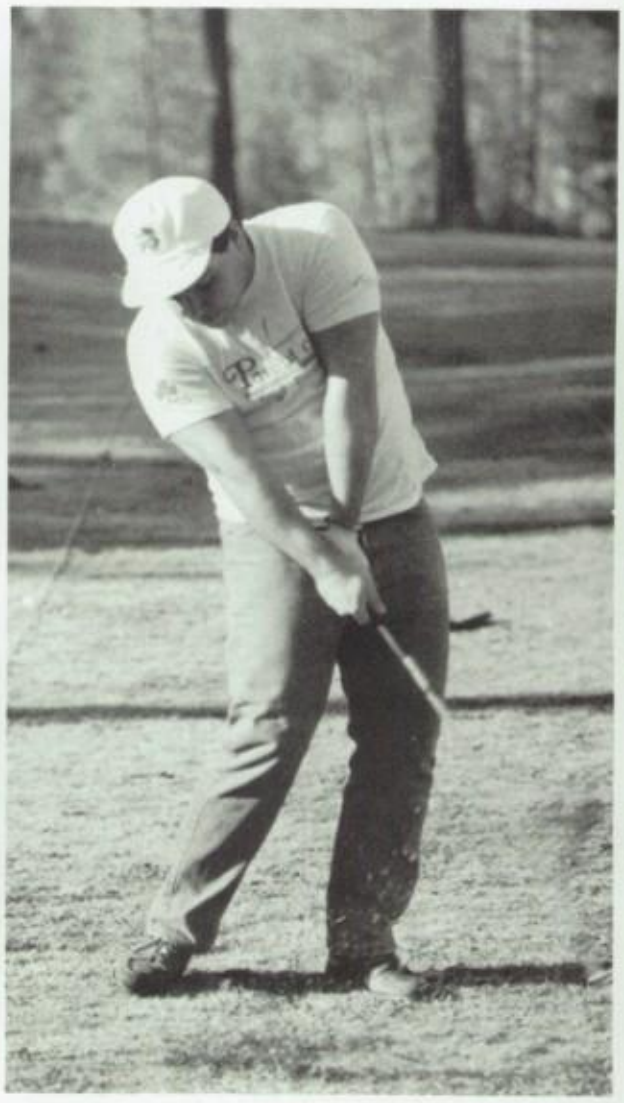
Tim Bowman swings the club with all his strength.



1985's Mid-State Medalist, Steve Isley watches to see how far the ball will go.

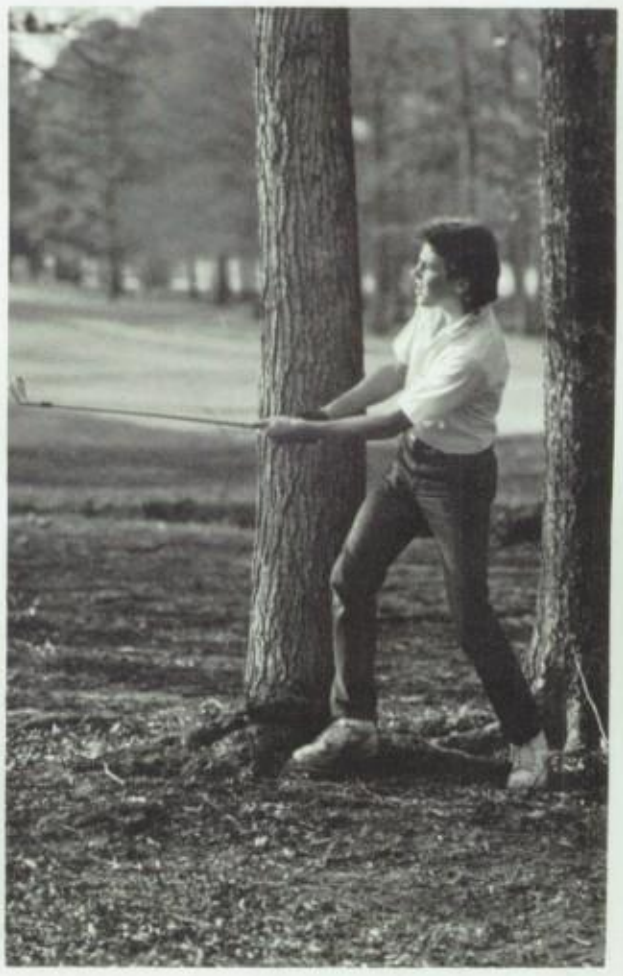


Ricky Boswell checks the length of his drive.



Jason King completes his swing as the ball heads for a sandtrap.

First Row (l-r): Jimmy Hunt, Ricky Boswell, Jason King, Chuck Loy. Second Row (l-4): Brian Owen, Tim Bowman, Steve Isley, Nell Brown, John Hundley.



Jimmy Hunt is an old pro at hitting a good ball from a bad lie.

At Burlington, we see fabric not merely for what it is, but for what it can be.

The American Flag, for example.

And Burlington is America's largest manufacturer of flag fabrics.

But we make lots of other things that touch the daily lives of Americans:

Yarns and apparel fabrics. Socks and hosiery. Carpets, rugs, furniture, draperies, bedspreads, sheets, pillowcases, towels, lamps and decorative accessories. Industrial fabrics of all types.

Our congratulations to the Class of '86! This academic milestone becomes the vestibule to your future. Our wish is that each of you will establish a goal for your life that will be enriching for you and the people with whom you will come in contact. If this carries you to higher education — study hard and strive to excel. Should you elect to build your future in a trade — work hard, be dependable, strive to excel. Your future is essentially up to you. The world doesn't owe you a living. It does present an opportunity for you to use your talents to their fullest — to benefit yourself, your family and your fellowman. Our challenge to you, the Class of '86 is to rise well to the occasion. We welcome you to the business world and will be pleased to discuss career opportunities with you.

'Eighty-six' was definitely a year to remember.

Wendi Hunter is getting prepared for a "hot" summer.

Girls just wanna have fun!

Stephanie Green cleans her locker out for the last time.

What a great way to end the year!

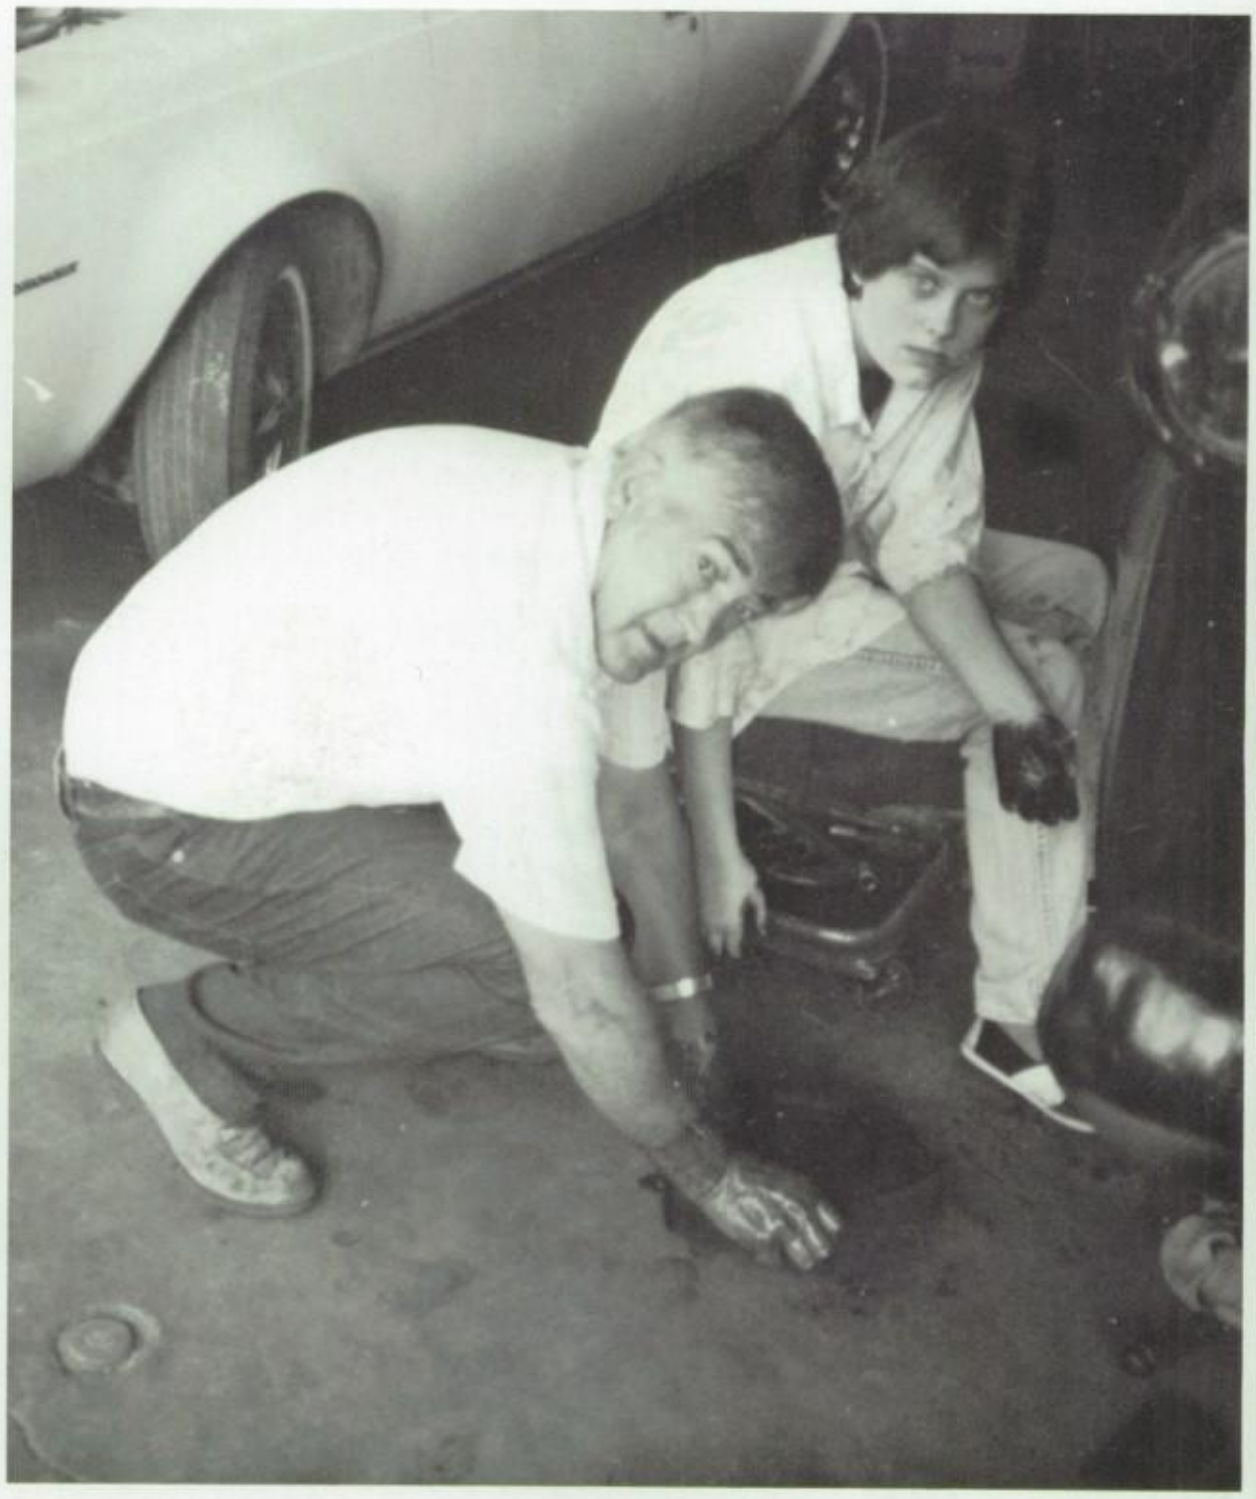
LIFE GOES ON

Life after school? You better believe it! Now that another year has ended, the Seniors are ready to party, and the underclassmen need to celebrate the fact that they have moved up one step further on the ladder to graduation. Most Graham students will either head for the beach, camp, work, vacation, or just stay home. But one thing is for sure, the school campus will be pretty much vacated for three months. The summer will be spent working on tans, lying by the pool, and sleeping late in the morning. The Seniors will all be going their separate ways. There is the chance that other students will move away before next fall. Will things be the same next year when we come back? Will the next year be as good as the last? What memories will we treasure most from this year? And how will we react to each new change? After all, changes will not wait for us, they just happen. Life has to go on, and it will go on, and on, and on . . .

These two students look back on Graham's many years of accomplishments.

Candi and James may not see each other this summer, but their friendship will live on.

Mrs. Jones looks like she has earned her vacation.



In auto mechanics the students and Mr. Willoughby get down to the problem — literally.

Monica Joyner is highly amused with Robbie's report card.

. . . AND ON

Are we sexy, or what?

Laid back and feeling cool.

Laurinda and Becky apparently require a lot of concentration when they dance.

. . . AND ON!

Beth,

This year in P.E. we have had our differences but I think of you as a friend and always will. It has been fun tripping out this year, I don't mind you taking points off my grade because what ever I did it was worth it. Hopefully will have some classes together next ~~year~~.
